Sewing clothes for your dog can be a great way to repurpose an old sweater, t-shirt, or sweatshirt. And since quite a few of these designs require to work with knitted fabrics or sweater knits, here are some tips for sewing knits: Use aballpoint needle in your sewing machine, which will slip between the fibers of your knitted fabric instead of cutting through them. And use a special stretch stitch or a small zigzag stitch when sewing your knitted fabric so that your seams will stretch when the finished item is worn. Strengthen seams that are subject to a lot of stress (such as where tires and tabs are attached) by sewing a second row of stitching over or right next to the front row. And if an item has a more complicated design, or you'll be making a more expensive fabric, you might want a muslin of the item first to make sure you get the fit right before sewing the finished product. And if you need to try the item on your dog before sewing your last seams, to be on the safe side, use safety pins to hold your seams together instead of straight pins. 100 + Free Dog Clothing Patterns More Free Dog Clothes Patterns& Note: This page may contain affiliate links.
